1.4. FUNGI
Result # candida in the mycelial stage Aggregation
Interpretation of the result: candida fungus is a marker of immunodeficiency states. It can also be a marker of disorders of carbohydrate metabolism (diabetes mellitus), thyroid pathology, other endocrine pathology, is associated with bacterial and viral aggression, allergies, its presence requires the search for concomitant pathology: endocrine (sugar, diabetes, thyroid pathology), allergies, bacterial viral infections (chlamydia, trichomonads, mycoplasmas, etc.) Active (vegetative) forms of candida fungi can penetrate the skin-mucous barrier, thereby creating conditions for sensitization of the body, as well as for the occurrence of pseudo-allergic reactions and the development of allergic dermatitis. Standard value: must be absent.
